Murray Racers Leave Today Swing Into The Southwest

With a 3-0 record over Border Conference teams this year, a 4-1 over all record, the Racers of Murray State College left today for a swing into the Southwest where they will meet two Border teams.

The Thoroughbreds of Coach Rex Alexander will play Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene tomorrow night, the University of New Mexico (Skyline Eight Conference) on Saturday in Albuquerque, and the University of Arizona in Tucson Monday, Dec. 17.

Murray is going to the Southwest with ten players, six of whom had never worn a varsity Murray uniform before this season. Veterans include Fran Watrous (captain) and Tom Darnell at forward, Sherrill Marginet at guard, and Quimman Sullins at center.

"Veterans" of the first two weeks of play include Gerald Fabor and Ken Wray at forward, John Brooks, Dale Alexander and Terry Darnell at guards, and Frank Waggoner at center. Big gun for the Racers so far has been big 6'9" Quimman Sullins who has averaged 18.8 points per game and better than a fourth of all rebounds.

Point distribution for the other nine is fairly even since Coach Alexander has been alternating two team units fairly consistently.

The Racers go into the contests with several players hot up to par. Sherrill Marginet who injured his elbow in the Georgia Tech game, re-injured it in the New Mexico A&M contest. Terry Darnell is just recovering from a knee injury.

The team suffered a blow when big John Powless was put out of action for the season after incurring a cracked neck vertebra in the game with West Texas December 8. Big John is expected to be in the hospital for more than a month.

The Racers go to the Southwest after a period of adjustment and "finding themselves." They quit playing a deliberate type of game and began running in the West Texas game and did even better with their noted fast break in the New Mexico A&M game December 11.

Murray's defense is still a big factor for any foe to deal with. The Racers are holding opponents to an average of 9.2 points less per game. In the field goal department, the Breds have made 143 field goals, their opponents 109.

Against Hardin-Simmons, Murray has a 1-0 record, having defeated them 87-72 last year. The Racers have never met the University of New Mexico. Against Arizona the Racers have a 1-0 record, having defeated them 83-73 last year at Murray. The Breds, winners of the Kentucky Invitation Tournament, did not meet Arizona in the tournament last year.

Broadcast time is given as 7:50 CST for the game at Abilene, 9:50 CST for both the Albuquerque and Tucson games.

Robinson Traded To The Giants

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, one of the greatest heroes in Brooklyn Dodgers history, was traded to the New York Giants today for pitcher Dick Littlefield and an undisclosed sum of cash estimated at $50,000.

Giant Manager Bill Rigney said he was "elated." He announced that the greying 36-year-old Robinson will play first base for the Giants next season. A Giants spokesman revealed that President Horace Stoneham of the Giants and Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers "closed the deal" at the recent major league meeting in Chicago but the announcement was withheld because the executives wanted to reveal the news to the players first.

Robinson, first of his race to play major league baseball, thus will bring his fiery talents to the team against which he battled hardest during his spectacular career. A star performer for the Dodgers since 1947, Robinson carried on a constant feud with former Giant Manager Leo Durocher and always seemed to play his best against the Giants.

"We always regarded Robinson as the heart of the Dodgers," the Giant spokesman said. "We're delighted to have him."

Robinson played in 117 games for the Dodgers last season and compiled a .275 batting average.

County Man Is Injured In Power Saw Last Week

James Miller of Lynn Grove was seriously injured on December 3rd while working as a carpenter with O'Brien and Padgett Construction Company on the new Women's Residence Hall at Murray State College. His hand was caught in a power saw, and before he could get the saw shut off his hand was practically jagged apart.

After Drs. Wayne and Butternorth did what they could for him he was rushed to Campbell's Clinic in Memphis, Tennessee and was in surgery for five and one-half hours. He is resting fairly well, but the outcome cannot be determined for several days.

Miller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burie Miller of Lynn Grove and the brother-in-law of Mrs. Harry Jenkins. He is married and has three children.

Four Murray State Grid Men Named To All-OVC First Team

Murray State placed 5 players on the All-Ohio Valley Conference football team for 1956, four being named to the first team. Al Giardano, 195 pound tackle from Farmingdale, N.Y., and Don Heine, 201-pound end from Sturgis, are repeaters from last year's squad. Jerry Stripling, Murray's Most Valuable Player this season, was the quarterback choice for the selection committee and Dave Bottos, the state's scoring champ made the honor team at a half-back slot.

Phil Chesser, a game sophomore center from Vero Beach, Florida, was named to the second team. Heine is the only senior but Giardano has been ruled ineligible by the NCAA due to a professional baseball contract.

Middle Tennessee, Murray, and Tennessee Tech were the only schools to place men on the eleven. Three of the players Stripling, Jerry DeLuca, and Terry Sweeney, were team mates for the University of Tennessee in 1955.

The Ellis Pump & Pipe Co. is Carlon Products' largest distributor for this revolutionary plastic well casing in the county.

Mr. Ellis and Carlon president, Brigham Britton, and other Carlon executives spent considerable time discussing his new method for installing this product that he has used successfully in the Murray vicinity for several years.

Tobacco Growers Get Christmas Boost On Sales

By United Press
Kentucky tobacco growers got a boost in their Christmas shopping funds again Wednesday as the statewide burley average rose eight cents per one hundred pounds above Tuesday's average.

An average of $64.89, just 27 cents below last Thursday's all-time high average, was paid for state burley at Wednesday's sales.

Sales increased slightly to total 14,187,497 pounds, which brought Kentucky growers $9,171,936.45. Thirteen of the 26 markets which sold Wednesday had averages higher than the preceding day's, Shelbyville sold at $65.50 per hundredweight, exactly the same average as Tuesday.

Cynthiana had the highest state average again at $65.58, followed by Shelbyville and Paris at $65.40.

Ten markets had averages above $65 and 10 others had averages exceeding $64. No state market sold at less than $60 per hundred for the third day this week.

Maysville floors again broke the million mark, selling 1,185,946 pounds for an average of $65.37.

The bulk of all tobacco sold throughout the eight-state burley belt brought from $63 to $66 per hundred Wednesday. The same low and fair quality tobacco made up over 70 per cent of the day's offerings.

Sales were reported heavy with sufficient deliveries at most points for blocked conditions.

Fresh Soviet Divisions In Hungary In Defiance To UN

By CHARLES W. RIDLEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
VIENNA, Dec. 13 (AP)—Fresh Soviet divisions rolled into Hungary today, in open defiance of the United Nations, and a Stalin-type blood purge of Hungarian rebel leaders appeared inevitable.

The puppet government invoked the death penalty for all offenders against martial law, but even the shadow of the gallows failed to stifle the nearly hopeless fight for freedom against impossible odds.

The desperate strike of protest against the Kremlin-imposed government went on past its midnight deadline though Soviet tanks ringed the factories and the hated secret police began rounding up strike leaders.

U. N. Condemns Soviets
The U. N. General Assembly condemned Soviet intervention Wednesday night and demanded it withdraw its troops. But Russia was reported rushing new troops into Hungary as fast as a single track Carpatho-Ukraine railway can carry them.

Few details were available, but best estimates in Vienna were that up to three new Soviet divisions had been ordered to bolster the 12 to 15 divisions already in Hungary.

Fears were expressed here that Russia no longer was treating the revolt as a minor rebellion but was ready to launch an all out military campaign to wipe out the freedom fighters and break the general strike.

Strikers hurl grenades against Soviet tanks and Hungarian Communist police. Scores of dead and injured were added to the thousands who have died for freedom.

One report from Belgrade said more than 3,000 persons had been arrested in Hungary during the past three days. Most of them were intellectuals and members of workers councils.

They were subject to death sentences under the penalties announced hour after hour by Budapest radio. The threats represented a complete return to the Stalin-type terror that provoked the original uprising.

Have Gallows Candidates
Two candidates for the gallows were already lined up by the reborn Communist police of Premier Janos Kadar — Sandor Racz and Sandor Bana. Officials of the outlawed Budapest Central Workers Council which issued the strike call on Sunday.

Refugees reaching Vienna from isolated Budapest said there was not a Hungarian who would give two forints for the chances of the two Kadar scapegoats.

They were condemned without trial. A police communication announcing their arrest also declared they were guilty of organizing the "counter-revolution," plotted to overthrow the Budapest government and gave false information to foreign correspondents.

County Teams Hope For Tourney Spot

Lynn Grove, Kirksey and New Concord would like to break a 14-year county drought with a shot at the 1957 state high school basketball tournament in the Kentucky Fairgrounds Coliseum, Louisville March 13-16.

On or after Jan. 15, State Tournament Ticket Sales, Box 1173, Lexington, Kentucky, will begin to accept mail orders for complete sets of tournament tickets. Orders with earlier postmarks will receive a lower priority than those mailed on Jan. 15.

The price of tickets calling for stadium (chair) seats is $12.00 (8 sessions). The price of tickets calling for bleacher seats is $6.00 (8 sessions). A limited number of box seats may be available at $16.00 per set, as well as some arena (chair) seats at the end of the floor, priced at $12.00 per set. Orders for individual session tickets will be accepted after February 15.

Calloway County has not sent a representative to the state tourney since 1942 when New Concord lost to Louisville St. Xavier 51-39 in the semi-finals. Performing on the Red Bird team that year were Pat Coleman, Edward Spiceland, Jess Buchanan (brother to Bird star Billy) W. A. Elkins, Max Allbrighten, E. H. Lax, Tom Hamlin, Max Oliver, Hardeman Hendon and Clyde Roberts.

Following Concord's 54-24 victory over Rineville in the opener at Louisville March 18, 1942, Coach Pat McCuiston wired this message to the Ledger & Times: "This team looks good enough for state champs."

County competition was rugged then and one of New Concord's three losses was to Almo 33-25. Now defunct Faxon High entered the semi-finals of the district that year.

Hungary Cited By American Correspondent For Sheer Bravery; Includes Whole Nation

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of a series by the only American correspondent to stay in Budapest through the Hungarian revolution and its suppression.

By RUSSELL JONES
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (AP)—Heroism is an overworked word, but if it is handing out Congressional Medals of Honor they would go to the entire Hungarian people.

Never has an entire nation fought with such desperate courage, for such unselfish motives and against such overwhelming odds.

The workers, the students, the women and the children of Hungary fought and won the revolution of Tuesday, Oct. 23. They fought and died in resisting the Soviet return. And when their weapons proved weaker than their spirit, they simply refused to work for their Moscow masters.

To choose any Hungarian as the hero would insult the thousands of those who fought. But there were individuals who stood out in my memory.

The 14-year old girl who turned herself into a human torch to set fire to three Russian trucks and the guns they towed. She died with half a dozen Russian soldiers caught in the flames.

Views Charred Remains
I never saw her in life, but I saw the charred remains of her body outside the Kilian Barracks, covered with a Hungarian flag and a pathetic bunch of artificial flowers.

An elderly man wept as he translated a note pinned to the flag: "Here lies a Hungarian girl of 14 years. She died for her country. All Hungarians mourn her."

The 13-year old boy with the shaved head. He had fought in both the revolution and the Soviet attack of Nov. 4. The Russians herded him along with some other 2,000 young Hungarians into cattle cars for deportation. He had escaped and walked all the way back to Budapest.

He was ashamed because the Soviets had shaved his head and his cap slipped down on his ears. He was literally as tall as the rifle he carried as he patrolled in front of the Corvin Theater. I thought of America's Andy Jackson who fought our revolution at 12.

Thwart Tanks With Soap
The children — and I mean children — who spread the sloping streets leading into Moscow Square with heavy oil and soap. So Soviet tanks skidded and went out of control as they attempted to charge the barricades.

With the few weapons they had taken from the police, the Hungarians fought the Soviet army.

With Molotov cocktails — bottles of gasoline — they knocked out so many of the Soviet T34 tanks that the Russians never again used them against organized resistance.

With a handful or antiquated 55 millimeter anti-tank guns, they knocked out more tanks and the huge 152 millimeter Red army siege guns. In the Killian-Corvin area alone, they destroyed two siege guns and at least six tanks.

But finally, courage, ingenuity and old weapons were not enough.

In their second attack, the Russians brought in their T54 tanks. They were virtually invulnerable to fire. Unlike the

North Carolina Not Top Kingpin In South Anymore

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

It looks as if it's true what they said about Dixie — North Carolina State isn't kingpin any more.

For nine of the last 10 years, Coach Everett Case guided State's Wolfpack to a conference championship and a high national rating. That's why pre-season whippers from the Southland that State wasn't up to par were hard to believe.

But Clemson surprised Tuesday night by upsetting the Pack, 96-94 for the first time in 15 years and Wednesday night came the real shocker — South Carolina's runaway 73-61 victory over State, the first Gamecock win in Case's reign.

In contrast to the Clemson "squeaker", South Carolina led all the way after the first 13 minutes with a 34-24 halftime margin, fought off a State rally that cut the margin to 38-34 early in the second half, and then breezed home. Sophs Fred Lentz and Ray Pericore had 18 and 18 points, respectively, to lead South Carolina.

Fouls Costly

Actually, fouls cost N.C. State the game, which was played at Charlotte, N.C. South Carolina had 40 tries from the charity line and sank 27. State had only 14 tries and sank five, wiping out State's four-basket edge from the floor.

The already groggy experts were jolted again Wednesday night when Niagara, tied for the No. 18 national ranking, suffered an 82-79 setback by twice-beaten Syracuse. Niagara was fresh from an easy victory over Seton Hall and beamed on its way up in the national rankings.

But four other high-ranked teams came through with victories Wednesday night to defy the early-season upset wave.

North Carolina, ranked No. 2 nationally and heir-apparent to N.C. State's Atlantic Coast Conference championship, rolled on with an 82-55 rout of George Washington at Norfolk, Va.

Dayton bounced back from its upset by De Paul to nip Miami* of Ohio, 76-75; 18th-ranked West Virginia romped over Penn State, 81-66; and Temple, which shares the 18th ranking with Niagara, sank 51 per cent of its shots in defeating Princeton, 67-58.

In other leading games Wednesday night, Purdue led all the way in beating De Paul, 83-78, despite 29 points by De Paul's Dick Heis; Loyola of Chicago tuned up for a Friday date with San Francisco's national champions by drubbing Kalamazoo, 83-57; Texas edged Oklahoma, 63-62; VMI downed Randolph, 71-59; Providence defeated Brown, 73-61; and Western Michigan edged Toledo, 81-75.

Western Kentucky, ranked 12th nationally, and St. Louis, conqueror of Kentucky earlier this week, both face tough assignments in feature games tonight. Western tangles with Seton Hall at New York's Madison Square Garden, while St. Louis plays host to Texas Christian and its high-scoring Dick O'Neal.

The Channel Swim

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — The channel swim...

CBS-TV's new situation comedy, "Mr. Adams and Eve," will be launched on Jan. 4. It stars Howard Duff and Ida Lupino as a hubby-wife stage team. Director Frank Capra is nearing completion of his second science show for the telephone company as a follow up to "Our Mr. Sun." Aimed for TV showing this spring, it deals with the circulation of the blood.

NBC-TV has inked Julius La Rosa and Jaye P. Morgan into the Sonja Henie spec, "Holiday On Ice," set for Dec. 22. "Masquerade Party," to be ditched by ABC-TV, is headed for a spot on NBC-TV after the first of the year. It'll be cast in color. Also on the debit list for NBC-TV: A new filmed adventure series, "Crisis."

Rodgers and Hammerstein's up-coming spectacular for CBS-TV, "Cinderella," is expected to run up the all-time high budget for TV — more than $500,000. A soft drink company has indicated interest in sharing sponsorship.

These troubled times: A new humor magazine, "Trump," has been blistered by more than 3000 letters from Elvis Presley fans because of a satirical piece on their darling. The title: "Elvis Pretzel."

Comic Jack E. Leonard, who'll appear on "Person to Person" tonight, recently shed 125 pounds. Ed Murrow asked Leonard's wife if the comic's dieting presented any problem. "My gosh," she said, "we even had to hide the family dogs."

Phyllis Kirk flies to London for a BBC two-hour live TV drama after she completes a current assignment with ABC.

Buchanan News

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Channey and children were weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Sanders.

Lots of people have had colds. Hope none get very serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crouch and children of Calvert City were Sunday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Sanders visited Mrs. Tom Vaughn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Davis Upchurch Sunday afternoon. The Upchurch's were attending a program for Cripple Children's benefit at Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Williams and Judy were Sunday night visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Alton and Janice.

The ball game Friday and Talent Show Saturday night was very well enjoyed and a good crowd attended. Which is fine, but isn't it strange how many of crowds attending the regular entertainments full of life and apparently in good health, suddenly on Sunday morning feel so bad, and are just not able to get to church. But come Monday work, school and the like Sunday sickness is gone, that is till next Sunday. Isn't it awful, the good Lord gives us six days to work and so many don't even give him one hour a week attending the house of the Lord. People should be ashamed to even ask for His blessing when we are so neglected of His work.

WELL EQUIPPED
WASHINGTON 17 — More than $40 million worth of equipment is being used on the St. Lawrence Seaway project. The equipment includes both Canadian and American. The estimate of the value was made by Lewis G. Castle, administrator of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp.

Lindane will control both lice and mites in the poultry house.

FROM THE WHITE HOUSE

PRETTY JUNG AI YUN, 9, holds a photo of President and Mrs. Eisenhower in Seoul, Korea, where it was sent from the White House with a letter written by James Hagerly, presidential secretary, thanking her for her support of the President. In 1952 she wrote a slogan, "Hurry Up, Ike," urging him to visit Korea. This year she wrote another, "Hurry Up and Win, Ike." (International)

Unlike the first attack, in the second the Soviets used planes, the MIG 15s and 17s and the IL28s, to bomb strong points. Long rifle 152 millimeter guns on Gellert Hill fired down into the resistance areas.

But the Hungarians fought on. Men holding out in the post office telephoned Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty in the U. S. Legation to ask, "Bless us, father, before we die." They died on the second day.

The Russians took no chances. A single shot from the heaviest artillery to kill one man.

Church steeples were systematically shelled because they were choice spots for a sniper. The last areas to hold out were the great iron and steel plants on what was once called "Red Chapel," and the industrial suburb of Ujpest. They stopped fighting only when it became clear the Russians would destroy the entire works that the men consider their own.

Even after the crushing of resistance in Budapest, the struggle went on in the country. Students at Sarospatak College near Satoraljaehely, not far from the Soviet border, took to the hills as partisans, confining the Russians to the main roads.

As I write this, reports from Budapest indicate fighting may break out again. If it does, I will hope against all logic and reason, that a people who have taught the world a lesson in

CHAPTER 27

THERE was a pause. Casson gazed at Jean incredulously. "Thank you for disbelieving it," she replied. "Jim wouldn't. He accused me of going with other men. I thought he was joking. Then I got angry and refused to see him. He only said that proved I was guilty." She smiled sadly.

"Did he give you any reason for his accusations?" Casson asked, leaning forward.

"He said that I had been to the pictures with another man. He told me the day and the time. He was quite right. I went with Mrs. Ogilvy's nephew. He is a traveling salesman in clocks and he used to know my family in Scotland. That's why I live here. I've been out several times with him. He's a nice, quiet man. When I told Jim that, he laughed."

"But did Jim see you both at the pictures?"

"No. A friend of his saw us." "Who was the friend?" Casson leaned further forward.

"I don't know. He wouldn't tell me. He said the friend regretted ever mentioning that he had seen me."

"Did he tell you any more?"

"He said he had been having lunch with this man in the city. It was a friend he quite often had lunch with, I believe—and Jim told him that he had seen him some days before with a lady. Jim had been coming back from his morning coffee and his friend was outside the bank with a lady who was a customer at the bank and Jim pulled his leg about rich lady customers lending him money. But his friend went as white as a sheet." Vividly Casson recollected Strutt's description from the police report of Perry and Macfarlane together in their city sandwich bar and all too clearly he understood what had happened. "He told Jim to mind his own business. Jim was quite hurt about it at the time but after a bit he saw how silly it all was."

"Did Jim tell you the name of his friend in the city?"

"No." "Did he ever mention the name of Perry? John Henry Perry? Or Hammersmith?"

"No." "Perry was the friend."

"You know him?" "Yes. Perry is a blackmailer. And now I know exactly what happened. Perry used your Jim to give him information from the bank. Jim did not know that Perry was a criminal. All he knew was that Perry was an old member of the bank's staff. He saw no harm in gossiping to him. The rich lady customer was one of Perry's victims. I could tell you her name but I won't. Perry thought that if Jim told other people in the bank whom he had seen Perry with and if they got to hear ultimately that she had been blackmailed, they might suspect Perry of being the blackmailer."

"Perry followed you until you went out with another man. He told Jim that you were unfaithful. He worked him up to the state in which one might presume him to have committed suicide. Perry even got him to go to a doctor and get a sleeping draught. That draught put Jim to sleep while Perry turned on the gas. Perry murdered Jim."

She was looking at him, deeply troubled.

"You are sure it—it happened like that?"

"Quite sure. I am sorry but I am quite sure."

"Then you will arrest him?" "Casson stood up.

"Miss Shaw," he said gravely, "we have no evidence on which to arrest him."

Her face was set.

"He died distrusting me," she whispered.

"He did. He died thinking that you were unfaithful."

She looked up at him. "But you will arrest him?" "In time."

He stood up to go. "I must ask you not to repeat this, Miss Shaw," he said. "It's very important that the murderer thinks he is safe."

"I am not likely to want to tell anybody," she replied and for the first time he heard desolation in her voice.

"Thank you, Miss Shaw," said Casson softly, and left her.

He drove to Savile Row at a dangerous speed. He ran up the stairs to Strutt's office and flung open the door.

"What's bitten you?" said Strutt.

"We're wrong," Casson replied. "Macfarlane was innocent. To his last moment he didn't know that Perry was a crook. Perry ruined his engagement and then killed him just in case he suspected. Just in case! We're so wrong that you ought to be fired and I ought to be shot."

"Sit down," said Strutt. Casson told him the story. When he had finished the two men looked at each other.

"All right," he said. "All right. I'll get him. I'll have him followed every hour of the day and night."

"Yes," Casson interrupted. "That will help me."

"I don't want to help you," Strutt bawled. "Blast you, what do you think this is—the Salvation Army?"

Strutt's expression changed when he heard the tone of voice in which Casson said: "I am going to frighten Perry into hanging himself."

John Perry leaned on the rail of Chiswick Mall and watched a river steamer sliding downstream toward Putney. With contempt he looked at the anonymous black figures of the people who packed the decks. Sizzling fools, he thought, as the sunlight glared on the water and intensified the sound of music from the boat.

Sweaty fools, he thought! He had always loathed them. They were always busy, always talking, always making the same silly jokes.

And for all their loud talk, not one of them had killed a man. But he had. He, John Perry, had deliberately and carefully and successfully killed his man.

It was true that some of them had killed Germans and Japs in the last war; but that was not heroic. They had killed under orders. They had killed because it was cowardly not to kill, killed because they were frightened. As he had always said, they were cowards at heart. Only he dared to face the heaviest penalty that the state could devise.

And he had dared it in order to guard his own private and personal ambitions. That was courage for you, real heroic courage, the sort that would have been appreciated by the Romans. That was the height of daring, to kill for what you believed to be beautiful.

Tomorrow, Perry gets a shock and Casson and Strutt plan a fear campaign.
